Industrial Bond Plan Scuttled

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Robert Millwee, executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, said Tuesday that Arkansas' industrial development bond program has been scuttled.

Millwee said the Treasury Department's recent reversal of a 1954 regulation, which permitted industrial bonds issued in the name of the states and localities to be exempt from taxation, would kill two programs which Arkansas has used to promote "unparalleled" industrial growth since 1958.

The programs the state has been using are Act 9 of 1960, which authorizes cities and counties to issue revenue bonds to finance construction, and Amendment 49 of 1958, which allows cities and counties to issue ad valorem bonds for industrial purposes.

Millwee said that bonds now up for election would not have the tax status removed.

The AIDC director said mayors and county judges were being asked to enlist support of Arkansas' congressional delegation to get Congress delay action of the Treasury's action until Congress can act on it.

Millwee said Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, "has done a yeomanlike job in keeping this from happening before."

Millwee said Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has contacted the White House "on basically the same premise that Congress should draw up necessary legislation" to prevent the Treasury's action.

"Now the (Johnson) administration has seen fit to try to bypass Congress on the thing and this is the problem," he said. "This sort of takes it out of the hands of Mr. Mills and Congress."

State Rep. Talbot Feldt of Hope suggested Monday that the second special session of the legislature this spring attempt to find new methods of financing industrial development.

A resolution proposing hearings on the matter was filed by Feldt with the Arkansas Legislative Council.

Feldt said the hearings would produce information "concerning the feasibility of security methods of conventional or other types of industrial financing."

Cubans Knew Plane Was Hijacked

By DENNIS FRIEL
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A passenger jet with 58 persons aboard was hijacked over South Florida Tuesday by two nervous gunmen kidnaping an old man who tearfully told passengers, "I'm going to be killed!"

The pilot of National Airlines flight 28, Capt. Clarence J. Delk, said "they were expecting us. I don't know how they knew we were coming. We were identified from the Cuban tower by flight number during our approach to Havana airport."

The hijackers' prisoner, a man who appeared to be in his sixties, was led from the plane crying and gesturing for help.

Stewardess Sarah E. West said the man slipped her some personal papers when the men weren't looking. She hid them on the plane and they were not found when Cuban soldiers searched the aircraft during the six hours at Havana. The papers were given to the FBI in Miami.

All three men were met at Jose Marti airport in Havana by Jose Abrantes, Cuban vice minister in charge of security. They were driven away with him in a government security car.

The three men, all in business suits, boarded together in Tampa. The airline said they gave their names as J. Arnertero, G. Carranza, and R. Donate when they bought tickets.

Four minutes after takeoff on the Tampa-to-Miami leg of a flight that began in San Francisco, one of the gunmen put a .45-caliber automatic pistol at the neck of stewardess Donna Goldinher, 26, and forced her into the cockpit. She fumbled with a key and made the men nervous. "They clicked their guns," she said.

Efforts by other stewardesses to warn the pilot failed as both gunmen got into the cabin before he picked up the intercom, said stewardess Sally Jackson.

Kenner.

Delk said he maintained radio silence because "we didn't want to do anything to make them think we were not cooperating."

American officials tracked the plane on radar. Cuba notified U.S. officials after the plane's safe landing at 12:36 p.m. The plane returned to Miami at 7:57 p.m.

The man who said he was going to be killed sat quietly in the coach section of the plane until the landing in Cuba.

"I heard noise that sounded like a fight in the cockpit," said Mrs. Kenner, "but then I saw it was the old man beating his hands and arms on the chair armrest. Then he began pacing up and down saying in his broken English, 'I'm going to be killed!'"

"Kill, kill. Dead, dead," the old man said as he gestured at his throat with a finger.

To reports that hijackers were drunk or on dope, Mrs. Kenner said: "They were not drunk. They were just petrified, scared to death."

In Havana, crew, passengers and military personnel aboard the plane were separated, Mrs. Kenner said. "They would not let us all be together. We were interviewed all afternoon from one to seven—constant questions, pictures being taken, newsreel and everything."

Flip Wilson, the comedian, who was a passenger on the plane, said the old man indicated he had been taken prisoner in Mexico.

The National flight was the third commercial airliner hijacked to Cuba in 20 days. A Delta Air Lines jet with 109 aboard was seized Feb. 21 just after takeoff from Tampa by Lawrence Rhodes Jr., a fugitive from Welch, W.Va., and allowed to return the same day. On March 5, a Colombian airliner was seized over the Caribbean and later allowed to return after paying airport and fuel fees.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

SEVENTEEN - YEAR PUNISHMENT

Dear Helen: We were married four years when I had to be away several months. A friend told me my wife had an affair. He saw her with another man several times.

That was 17 years ago. I could never forget, and have lived in awful doubt. My three children seemed to blame me for not treating their mother right. They don't know the misery I have suffered. Shouldn't she suffer too? I have submerged myself in my work. My family wants for nothing. I avoid my wife whenever possible. I work 14 hours a day, six days a week.

Recently a friend told me my wife was not doing right by me again. People call her a model mother. I suspect a deceitful witch.

We had a showdown. She finally confessed to the affair 17 years ago. Now I can't bear to look at her. Knowing the truth is even worse than guessing. She swears she is not guilty of the second affair, but how can I believe her? I am sick. I am losing weight. My work suffers.

She said if it will make me happy she will give me a divorce, admitting adultery. I have always been a good, clean-living man and have never broken the Ten Commandments.

Should I create a scandal and divorce my wife? - CHEATED
Dear Cheater: Could you just for one darn minute stop thinking of your "good, clean-living" stuff, overrighteous, unforgiving self, and acknowledge that you HAVE broken one of the Ten Commandments - "Thou shalt not steal"? You have stolen 17 years from what might have been a happy life - for your wife, your children and yourself.

If you can't, with the help of a counselor, admit you share the blame for all this misery, then give your wife a break and let her go free. The REAL scandal is that you've subjected your family to nearly a quarter-life-time of punishment. - H

Dear Helen: Something about writers annoys me. LIKE: "He is terribly good looking"; "That dress is awfully pretty." Even an account of the White House wedding stated, "The groom is terribly good at speech making."

How can anyone be terrible and awful, yet good or pretty? Wouldn't you think copy readers would correct this before it goes to press? - MRS. M.L.

Dear Mrs. L: It may not be terribly correct, but somehow "awfully" pretty impresses the reader as prettier than "very" pretty. I kinda go for relaxed English. - H

Dear Helen: Recently a letter from a clergyman informed your readers that a good way to quit smoking was through hyp-

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) - It was a busy day and night for television's news departments with two major stories breaking Tuesday that were right down the networks' alleys.

There was Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in another long session discussing Vietnam. That, of course, was a scheduled event in a predetermined spot in which it was possible to set up lights and cameras - a situation that TV likes very much.

And then there was the presidential preference primary in New Hampshire - a more difficult coverage job but one which the networks have long since learned to handle with skill and smoothness.

NBC, once again, was alone in providing live coverage of what President Johnson whimsically called "The Dean Rusk Show," and for the second day in a row was willing to drop its regular, commercially scheduled game shows and soap operas to do so.

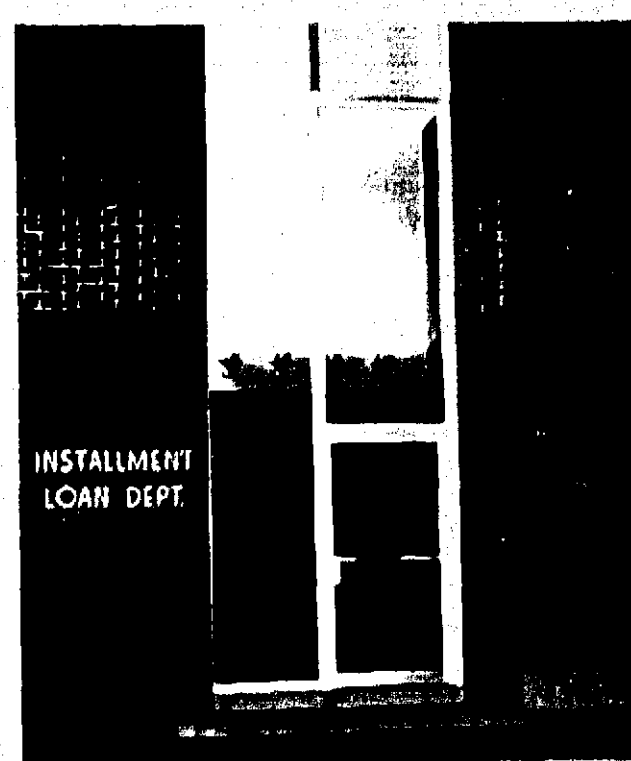

A network spokesman reported late in the day that its research department, using an outside audience survey, estimated that some 35-million persons had seen all or some part of the live coverage during the two days - and that's a lot of housewives.

CBS devoted half of an hour program to a report and analysis of the New Hampshire voting and the strong showings by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Richard M. Nixon, and the rest to a report and some highlights from the Washington hearing.

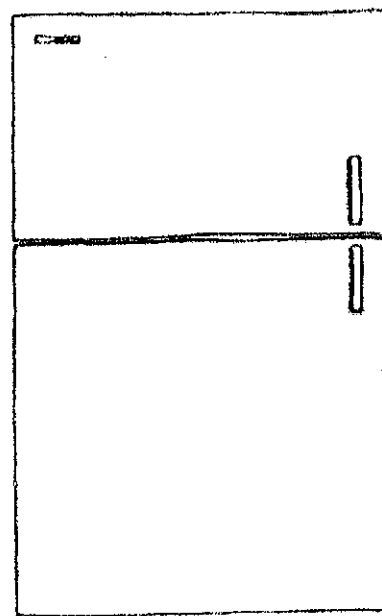

All through the evening of regular programming, the networks ran bulletin headlines across the screen. Late in the evening, after the 11 o'clock news shows, there was more about the primary.

Buckeyes Hang on, Win a Bid

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State didn't have any worries for about a week but those last 22 seconds Tuesday night almost gave Coach Fred Taylor enough ulcers to last a lifetime.

The Buckeyes hung on, however, after blowing most of a 12-point lead and won their play-off game from Iowa 85-81, giving them the 23rd and last berth in the NCAA tournament as the Big Ten representative. The teams had finished the regular season tied for the conference lead.

"Ohio State is in a great position. They haven't had any worries for a week," was the way Iowa's Ralph Miller put it before the contest on the neutral Purdue court, the first Big Ten playoff since 1908.

The worrying began in earnest when Iowa charged to within two points with 22 seconds remaining. But State recovered on free throws by Denny Meadows, Bill Hosket and Jody Finney and won the right to meet East Tennessee in the NCAA Midwest regionals Friday night at Lexington, Ky.

Taylor said his team had practiced only three times in the past week while Iowa was wasting a chance to win the title outright. "We just weren't very sharp," he said, blaming the lack of practice.

All five starters scored in double figures, though, with Hosket netting 24 points and Steve Howell 22, Iowa's Sam Williams led all scorers with 29.

That was the only major college game Tuesday night but plenty more are on tap later this week. The National Invitation Tournament gets underway in New York on Thursday and 16 more teams swing into action Friday in the NCAA's four regional pairings.

The eight-team NCAA college division tournament opens today at Evansville, Ind., with Kentucky Wesleyan, the nation's second-ranked small college team, favored. The Panthers, 25-3, play American International, 21-4, in the opening round.

In other games, Cheyney, Pa.,

State, 22-6, faces Ashland, Ohio, 22-5; Indiana State, 21-7, meets Nevada Southern, 22-6, and Evansville, 20-7, plays Trinity of Texas, 21-6.

Eight games were played Tuesday on the second day of the 32-team NAIA tournament at Kansas City and there were plenty of surprises. Top-seeded Guilford, N.C., lost to Oshkosh, Wis., State 80-78 and second-seeded Stephen F. Austin of Texas were eliminated by Eastern Michigan 82-80.

The other results: Northeastern Oklahoma 89, Athens, Ala. 72; Hanover, Ind. 107, Southern Oregon 59; Central Washington 95, Albuquerque 72; Central, Ohio, State 81, Millikin, Ill. 64; Dickinson, N.D. 76, Washburn, Kan. 71 and Eastern Montana 83, Wayne, Neb. 70.

Farr Shares Crown for Interceptions

NEW YORK (AP) — Miller Farr, whose defensive play was a major part of the reason Houston won the Eastern Division title, shared the 1967 pass interception crown with Tom Janik of Buffalo and Dick Westmoreland of Miami, final American Football League statistics showed today.

Each of the trio intercepted 10 passes, the same number grabbed in 1966 by co-champions Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt of Kansas City. The league record is 12.

Farr, however, returned his interceptions more yardage than the other two, averaging 26.4 yards on his total of 264. Janik ran back his catches 222 yards and Westmoreland 127.

Farr turned three of his interceptions into touchdowns, tying the league record. Janik scored twice and Westmoreland once.

Boros Has His Eyes Set on Citrus Open

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Julius Boros calls himself "a depression baby" but the ambitious 48-year-old defending champion has his sights set much higher than another victory in the Orlando Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

"I'd like to win the Masters," the easy swinging 1967 Orlando champion said, "and do well in all the major summer tournaments."

Boros, who starts defense of his title Thursday when the 1968 tournament gets underway, said on the eve of the meet that he considers this fight just another battle in the pro tour's golf war.

However, Boros would be happy to pocket the winner's share of the $115,000 the leaders will split Sunday when the 72-hole Orlando tournament comes to a close on the flat but difficult Rio Pina course.

Boros has not been a standout this year. Last week he failed to qualify for the final 36 holes of the Doral Open won by Gardner Dickinson.

"I had the flu and I still have it," Boros said after a casual workout. "But I have never felt better about my chances."

That makes him an optimist because the South African member of golf's Big Three — Gary Player — is starting his 1968 U.S. tour at Orlando again.

Leo Ready But Cubs Aren't

You can start the baseball season anytime now. Leo Durocher is ready.

The athletes struggle each spring getting their arms and legs in shape for the summer grind. But Leo has it easier. He needs to worry only about his lip.

Durocher's lip, jaw and other vocal equipment was in top form Tuesday and they earned him an early exit as his Chicago Cubs absorbed a 12-2 pounding from the San Francisco Giants in an exhibition game at Scottsdale, Ariz.

In other games, the New York Mets edged Los Angeles 5-4, Minnesota tripped the New York Yankees 8-5, the Chicago White Sox ripped Boston 10-5, Pittsburgh routed Detroit 14-5, and Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 9-0 in a game halted by rain after five innings.

Also Cincinnati nipped Houston 8-7, Washington dropped Atlanta 7-2, Oakland nipped Baltimore 6-5 and California shaded Cleveland 4-3.

Durocher took on Umpire Mel Steiner in the bottom of the fourth inning after the Giants had embarrassed 20-game winner Ferguson Jenkins with six straight hits and five runs in the top half of the inning.

The battle started over a spitball warning to Jenkins early in the inning which rubbed Durocher the wrong way.

After the argument, three baseballs were thrown onto the field from the Cubs' dugout — two in Steiner's direction and the third striking a photographer on the field.

The Giants collected 21 hits, 19 of them singles, against five Cub pitchers.

The Mets got only two hits against Los Angeles, but three errors, two of them by new shortstop Zoilo Versalles, beat the Dodgers. New York got both hits — a single by Al Eulis and a triple by Cleon Jones — in the third inning when errors by Versalles and Jim Lefebvre helped build four runs.

Pitcher Jim Grant, victim of the big inning, had homered for the Dodgers in the top half of the inning.

Ron Clark's bases-loaded double in the seventh inning brought Minnesota from behind and helped the Twins beat the Yankees. Joe Pepitone homered for New York and rookie Pat Kelly connected for Minnesota.

The White Sox battered Boston pitchers for 18 hits as catcher Dick Booker drove in four runs and Rocky Colavito smashed Chicago's first spring home run. George Scott tagged a pair and Gene Oliver had one for the Red Sox.

Pittsburgh rushed 11 runs across against Detroit's Pat Dobson and Joe Spina in the third inning and coasted past the Pirates. Al McBean, who pitched three hitless innings, drove in two runs with a single in the big inning.

Don Lock had three hits including a three-run homer and Chris Short hurtled four scoreless innings as the Phillies battered the Cardinals.

Two Houston errors and Alex Johnson's bases-loaded double helped Cincinnati to four ninth inning runs that beat the Astros. Lee Bales' error opened the gates for the Reds.

Three singles, a passed ball and an error gave Washington five fifth inning runs and the Senators rapped Atlanta. Singles by Frank Coggins and Ed Brinkman drove in two runs and shortstop Angel Hermoso's error allowed two more.

Bert Campaneris, Danny Carter and Sal Bando all homered for Oakland but it took 11th inning doubles by Rick Monday and Jim Pagliaroni to beat Baltimore. Andy Echbarren, Don Buford and Boog Powell homered for the Orioles.

California withstood late pinch homers by Willie Smith and Leon Wagner to beat Cleveland.

Jackson's Only Goal Was Best

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The first weekend Phil Jackson was in New York somebody pulled a knife on him in the subway.

The Baltimore Bullets couldn't have been more surprised Tuesday night if he had pulled one on them. As it was, Jackson about slashed the Bullets National Basketball Association playoff hopes to ribbons.

Through 47 minutes and 20 seconds of the New York Knicks' 107-104 victory, Jackson was just another cog in the machine, thrown into the line-up at odd moments for defensive purposes.

But after the Knicks had fought back from an 11-point deficit with just over five minutes left in the game to a 104-104 tie with 1:34 left, Jackson popped up all over the place.

With 40 seconds left, he threw in a free throw, giving the Knicks a 105-104 lead. On the Baltimore throw-in, Jackson threw himself in front of Baltimore's Kevin Loughery and stole the ball.

Moments later, Jackson took a pass in the corner, dribbled over to the basket and scored his only field goal of the game for the final points of the contest.

In other NBA action, Detroit beat Seattle 139-123. Philadelphia swamped Chicago 139-115 and Boston edged San Francisco 124-121 in overtime. The St. Louis-Chicago game scheduled for Cleveland was postponed when the Hawks were snowed in at home.

In the American Basketball Association, New Jersey topped Pittsburgh 126-112, Dallas beat Minnesota 122-107, Kentucky crushed Houston 130-109 and Denver took Oakland 112-92.

The Pistons' victory, their sixth straight, gave them a 1/2 game lead over fifth-place Cincinnati and left them in good shape to clinch the final division playoff spot. Eddie Miles led Detroit scorers with 39 points. Tom Kron had 24 for Seattle.

The 76ers exploded for 43 points in the third period in burying the Bulls. Hal Greer had 30 points for Philadelphia while Jim Washington had 29 for Chicago.

Boston missed nine of 15 free throws in overtime but managed to outlast San Francisco as three Warrior players fouled out in the extra period. The Celtics jumped off to a three-point lead in the overtime and never were headed after regulation time ended 111-111.

Free throws by Bailey Howell and John Havlicek in the final 10 seconds settled the issue for Boston.

Howell collected 30 points and Havlicek contributed 28. Jeff Mullins was high for San Francisco with 28.

Losing Was Not So Bad for Pipers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winning would have been nicer but losing wasn't so bad for the Pittsburgh Pipers.

The Pipers dropped a 126-112 decision to the New Jersey Americans Tuesday night but still clinched at least a tie for the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division crown when second place Minnesota lost to Dallas 122-107.

In other games, Kentucky whipped Houston 130-109 and Denver downed Oakland 112-92.

In the National Basketball Association, Philadelphia ripped Chicago 139-115, New York trimmed Baltimore 107-104, Detroit dropped Seattle 139-123 and Boston outlasted San Francisco 124-121 in overtime. The game between St. Louis and Cincinnati at Cleveland was postponed by snow.

Despite the loss to New Jersey, Pittsburgh kept its three-game lead over Minnesota. Both teams have three games remaining.

Hank Whitney and Bob Lloyd led the Americans' attack with season-highs of 34 and 24 points, respectively. Connie Hawkins had 34 points and Charlie Williams 28 for Pittsburgh.

The victory kept New Jersey 1/2 games in front of Kentucky in the battle for fourth place and a playoff berth in the East. The Colonels won their 12th in the last 13 home games, beating Houston, Louie Dampier's 31 points led Kentucky and Willie Somerset had 32 for Houston.

Charles Boasley threw in 30 points and Cincy Powell added 28 as Dallas beat Minnesota and assured Pittsburgh of at least a tie for Eastern honors. Les Hunter's 26 points led the Muskies.

Denver, in beating Oakland, moved to within two games of New Orleans, the Western Division pace-setter. A pair of jump shots by Willie Murrell halfway through the third period triggered the Rockets.

Murrell shared scoring laurels with teammate Wayne Hightower, each connecting for 26 points. He hit for 18 points in the first half and was instrumental in the Rockets' surge after the intermission as they built their lead to 23 points.

pitchers will no longer be ejected from the game after two violations of the new spitball rule. Instead, they will be charged with an illegal pitch, similar to a balk.

The spitball has long been an illegal pitch but violations have come so frequent that the rules committee decided on a crack-down. Umpires were busy this spring explaining the rule which called for one warning and then expulsion from a game for a pitcher who brought his hand in contact with his mouth or lips.

American League umpires enforced the rule strictly and several pitchers including Dean Chance of Minnesota, Camilo Pascual of Washington and Danis Ribart of Detroit, have been thrown out of exhibition games. National League umpires were more lenient and confusion developed as to how far a pitcher could go.

Finley Offers to Take Over Oakland Seals

OAKLAND (AP) — A report that the financially pressed Oakland Seals may be moved to Canada brought an offer Tuesday from Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland Athletics' baseball team to purchase the National Hockey League club.

Labatt Breweries of Vancouver, B.C., acknowledged Tuesday it has been talking with Seals' owners, but says the outcome is still undetermined.

State mediator Meyer Drucker said agreement on a new three-year contract was reached between the track management and representatives of local 32E of the Building Service Employees Union, AFL-CIO to which the pari-mutuel clerks belong.

Drucker said the new contract provides for a $1 a night increase during the first year, none the second and unspecified productivity bonus in 1970 based on the 1968 pari-mutuel handle.

Five Home Track Meets Scheduled

By RALPH HOUTON
Star Sports Writer

Although the weather's closeness to spring could only be testified by the dates on the calendar, nevertheless the time has come for a new sport season, and immediately the Hope High thin-clads jump into the new track season.

Head track coach Ronnie Higgins has lined up five home meets, with five more also on the road. And that first home event is just tomorrow, to be held at the HHS facility adjoining Hammons Stadium. The running events, if run according to years past, should get underway around 3:30 p.m.

Already the Hope High tracksters have been to one meet, a sort of season kickoff at Camden last Thursday. And the locals did quite well, placing second to 4-AA champ Crossett. The outstanding factor, though, was the final statistic, in which Hope had a very good total of 62 points.

Several good performances were given, however. Buzz Andrews won his two hurdles events easily in good time, and Alan Phillips placed a strong second in the 880 with a strong 2:05 time. James Rowe came close to his school record in the mile, winning easily in 4:57.

A happy surprise, but what could have been expected, was sophomore John Spraggins' solid win in the 440 dash. Making his high school debut look like mid-season, John pulled away from the field in the home stretch for a letter-perfect 52.9 quarter. You can expect plenty to be heard about him before the state championships come up in May.

With things pointing towards a good spring, fans who never have before should get out to see the tracksters compete. Just as much excitement is generated as in any sport, and it is enjoyable. Admission for the home meets will be 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Braves Could Return to Contention

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — First baseman Deron Johnson rushes to the ball park an hour early to practice picking up ground balls. Center fielder Felipe Alou makes a diving catch in an intrasquad game.

The Atlanta Braves are hustling this spring. New Manager Luman Harris won't have it any other way.

The power-packed Braves disappointed a lot of experts last year by staggering home seventh in the National League pennant race. Injuries to key men—Alou, catcher Joe Torre, pitcher Tony Cloninger—played a big part in the collapse. So did a .240 team batting average, slowness of foot and nonchalant in the field.

Harris, who succeeds Billy Hitchcock as manager after piloting the Braves' Richmond farm club to the International League pennant, expects the hitting to take care of itself. Alou and Torre are healthy again; Hank Aaron should be as good as ever; Rico Carty is back on the beam and Johnson's big bat has been added to an already potent line-up.

The 53-year-old Braves' skipper, who also managed briefly at Houston and Baltimore before rejoining his old pal, General Manager Paul Richards, is satisfied with a young pitching staff headed by ERA king Phil Niekro.

Harris can only pray that the Braves stay injury free in 1968. But he already has taken steps to assure that there will be no recurrence of the ho-hum attitudes of 1967.

"I was glad to see Alou dive for that ball, even if it didn't mean anything," he said. "I want to see the infielders diving for balls, too. I want the whole club doing it, starting right here and now."

So far, the Braves appear to be responding to the no-nonsense edict. Johnson, determined to regain his 130 RBI form of 1965, is the hardest worker in camp. Atlanta got the strapping slugger in a trade with Cincinnati, where he was plagued by injuries last season and hit only .224 with 13 homers and 53 RBI.

Another significant trade brought shortstop Sonny Jackson from Houston, adding much-needed speed to the Braves' line-up. Jackson, who also had injury problems in 1967, hit .237 and stole 22 bases for the Astros.

Ex-Yankee Cleto Boyer, who had his best year ever at the plate with 26 homers and 96 RBI—and led NL third baseman in fielding—could be the only returnee in the infield. Johnson is set at first base, Jackson at short and Felix Millan, who hit .310 for Richmond, is pressing Woody Woodward, .226 with the Braves, for the second base job.

If any of the regulars falter, Harris can call on Tommy Aaron, Hank's younger brother and the International League MVP, with a .309 average, as well as versatile Marty Martinez, .288 in 21 games with the Braves, and veteran handymen Tito Franco, .244 with Atlanta, and Sandy Valdespino, .165 with Minnesota.

Should Cloninger, a former 24-game winner who sat out more than two months last year with a serious eye ailment, find himself again, Atlanta pitching could go from fair to good in 1968.

Knucklebatter Niekro was the big surprise last season, leading the league with a 1.87 ERA and winning 11 of 20 decisions. Pat Jarvis, 15-10 was the big winner, followed by veteran Ken Johnson, 13-9. Newcomers Ron Reed and Jim Britton, who were 14-10 and 12-7, respectively, for Richmond, also could make it as starters.

Clay Carroll, Claude Raymond, Dick Kelley, Cecil Upshaw and Dale Roberts are the leading bullpen candidates.

If Cloninger bounces back and Torre, Alou and Carty regain their 1966 hitting touch, Harris' Braves could move back into the contending position they were picked for a year ago.

Braves Could Return to Contention

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — South Africa's controversial readmission to the Olympic Games will be the topic of discussion here April 20-21 at a special meeting of the International Olympic Committee's executive board.

IOC President Avery Brundage called the meeting Tuesday in reaction to pressure from Mexican organizing officials and other sources. But he spurned a demand by five members of the executive board that he call a general meeting of the 73-member IOC.

More than 40 nations withdrew from the Summer Olympics, scheduled for October in Mexico City, following South Africa's readmission last month at the IOC's general convention.

KTAL Plans a Unique Program

A unique program, the first of its kind to be shown in this area, "Journey to Eternity" will be presented on KTAL-TV, Channel 6, March 18-22.

This color telecast is a new dimension in Bible study, designed to take the viewer on a pictorial journey through the Bible to see the land where Biblical history was made, and to learn the facts about the world's greatest book. It will be seen from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Narrator of the series is M. F. (Mid) McKnight, evangelist, teacher and world traveler, who will show hundreds of magnificent colored slides he has taken in his travels through Bible lands. He has given over 600 public lectures entitled, "Illustrated Trip Through the Bible", using these slides.

Following the filmed portion of each night's program, there will be a panel in the KTAL-TV Shreveport studios who will answer Bible questions telephoned to the studio.

256 Year Old Paper to Be Auctioned

LONDON (AP) — A paper written 256 years ago will be auctioned at Sotheby's next week and it seems to suggest one of the oldest questions in the game: so what else is new in politics?

The item is a first edition copy of a discourse entitled "A Treatise on the Art of Political Lying," to be sold March 18, by the estate of British financier Harley Drayton, whose widow is selling off his library.

There is some doubt about the author but most believe it was Jonathan Swift. In any case, the conclusions are, in this day and age of hot political campaigns, enough to give at least pause. For example:

1. Man should be granted the right to the truth with his family.
2. He should be entitled to economic truth which deals with cash money.
3. He has no right at all to political truth.
4. If lies are flung back at lying politicians in order to bring the regime down, it's what the regime deserved.

"The Jake of Diamonds" is a paperback reissue of an old book by Don Von Eisner covering the adventures of fictional bridge expert Jason Winkman at the Hawaiian Regionals. It has a lot of blood and thunder and also some tips for duplicate bridge players.

In today's hand Winkman finds himself in three no-trump. The hand presents no real problem to a rubber bridge player. He will try the spade finesse early in the play. If that works, his contract will be assured and overtricks will just be incidental. It doesn't work and a second heart lead will clear the suit and leave our rubber bridge player an eventual diamond finesse for his contract. This one works.

Our duplicate expert has a far tougher problem. He is declarer at three no-trump and he sees that the field will be in four spades. He wants to make as many tricks at no-trump as the other declarers would make at spades. How can he?

One way is to win the heart lead in dummy and take an immediate diamond finesse. If it works and the queen of diamonds is not at the top of a suit of four cards or more, he will make four diamonds, two hearts and either four or five spades depending on the location of the spade king and also will make as many tricks as the spade declarers.

If Winkman had tried this line of play he would have made four no-trump. Instead he tried another one that didn't work. He won the first heart in dummy and led the four of clubs. If West had ducked, declarer would have made his three no-trump contract, but West rose with the king of clubs. This was quite a play for anyone and Winkman was sure that East was not an expert. He was right about that but it seemed that East was a student and had just read about the unusual second hand high play the day before.

What do you do now?
A—Bid four spades. If your partner wants to go on, you are willing—but as far as you are concerned you will be satisfied to play at game.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding two spades, your partner bids three hearts in response to your two hearts. What do you do now?

tribute to. Modern drugs are now first tested on cultures of cancer cells. If the drug shows promise, it is tested on mice with different types of malignancy. If these tests appear to be successful, tests with very small doses in human subjects must be made to see whether the drug is too toxic to normal cells. If not, then and only then can it be tried on patients with cancer.

Obituaries

MRS. JETT BUNDY
Mrs. Jett Fooshee Bundy, 78, wife of the late Leon F. Bundy, died Tuesday in a Hot Springs hospital. She was a lifelong resident of Hempstead, a life member of Wesleyan Service Guild, member of the Methodist Church. She was active in both church and civic affairs and had served as state and national delegate for several organizations. She was instrumental in forming the first band at Hope High School, represented the Gallup Post service in this area and for 15 years was connected with the Hempstead County Greeting service.

Surviving are three sons, William L. Bundy of Hot Springs; Bob Bryant Bundy of Denver and Jack J. Bundy of West Memphis; a daughter, Mrs. Herbert Arnold of Benton and a sister, Mrs. Percy L. Osborne of Reidsville, N.C.

Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Herndon Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Fred Harrison and the Rev. Everett Vinson. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery by Herndon Funeral Home.

J. R. COLLIER
John Roy Collier, 74, lifelong Hempstead resident, died Monday in a local hospital. He was a retired carpenter and a Methodist.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Wanta Cornelius Collier; six daughters, Joyce Collier, Mrs. Buck Foster, Mrs. Johnny Foster, all of Hope; Mrs. A. A. Hutchings of Colorado City, Texas; Mrs. Odie Russ of Houston and Mrs. Ted Willis Jr. of North Carolina; three brothers, Edward, Howard and Leo Collier, all of Hope.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at Oakcrest Chapel by the Rev. George Prentiss. Burial will be in Memory Gardens by Oakcrest Funeral Home.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gus Van, 80, retired vaudeville man who had starred in five editions of the Ziegfeld Follies on Broadway, died Tuesday. Van, born August Van Glone, gained fame as a member of the singing team of Van and Schenck. His partner, Joe Schenck, died in 1930.

CHICAGO (AP) — Julian Bentley, 59, veteran Chicago newscaster, died Tuesday after a lengthy illness. Bentley was news director for radio station WLS for more than 10 years until 1947. Later he was news director of WBBM and WBBM-TV. He had been a free-lance correspondent since 1961.

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — William Franklin Kerr, 91, former Saskatchewan minister of natural resources and editor of the old Regina Leader, died Monday night. As a result, there were 24 McCarthy delegates on the ballot, while 45 persons favoring Johnson divided the loyalist vote.

Meany Accepts Reuther's Challenge

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany has accepted a challenge for a special AFL-CIO convention to judge whether American labor is flourishing under his leadership. But he said challenger Walter Reuther must first agree to abide by the verdict.

Reuther, the United Auto Workers president who joined with Meany to found the 14-million-member labor federation 12 years ago, can have the special convention he demanded "if he puts his gun away," Meany said.

Reuther, who for more than a year has been attacking the 72-year-old Meany's leadership in the AFL-CIO presidency as "stagnant," "undemocratic" and "vegetating," called a meeting today of the Auto Workers Executive Board to consider the offer of a special convention.

Meany said the AFL-CIO's 29-man Executive Council unanimously agreed to the demand for a special convention if Reuther first promises to show up and accept any decisions of the convention.

But he said the council "unanimously rejects out of hand the ultimatum" by Reuther that he will pull his 1.5 million Auto Workers out of the federation if he doesn't get the convention.

Meany said this didn't mean Reuther would have to promise not to secede from the AFL-CIO in order to get a special convention.

Reuther indicated earlier he couldn't accept any preconditions to a special convention.

"I pray that the American labor movement can see the light," said the 60-year-old, red-haired Reuther.

Reuther gave up the presidency of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in 1955 to nominate Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, as head of the merged 128-million organization.

Little Rock Voters Beat School Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While North Little Rock voters elected a Negro to their school board Tuesday, Little Rock voters defeated a three-mill tax increase proposal that was meant to implement a controversial school desegregation plan.

John W. Smith, a North Little Rock contractor, outpolled incumbent Charles Stroud unofficially by some 300 votes.

Little Rock voters soundly defeated by a 2-1 margin the millage increase, which in part would have financed a plan devised by school Supt. Floyd Parsons that would have provided cross-town busing of students to insure racial balance in Central High School and predominantly white Hall High School.

Incumbents who supported the "Parson's plan" felt the voters' wrath by being defeated by the plan's opponents by nearly the same margin.

Jonesboro voters increased their millage from 43 1/2 to 49 to implement a four year plan for construction and maintenance of schools and teacher's raises. The $800,000 project passed with 1,908 for and 1,114 against.

Fort Smith voters routinely approved continuation of their 19 mill tax rate in a light turnout.

Vietnamese Plan Army of Liberation

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government's chief spokesman said today that a volunteer "liberation army" is being formed to invade North Vietnam.

U.S. officials expressed complete surprise at the report.

The spokesman, Director General of Information Nguyen Ngoc Linh, said the invasion army would be made up of Vietnamese who are "sick and tired of those people who want to 'liberate' South Vietnam." This was a reference to the Viet Cong, who call themselves the South Vietnamese Liberation Army.

Vietnam Press, the government news agency, reported earlier today that authoritative sources had said a "high-ranking member of the vice president's office is forming a Oarch to the North Army." The vice president is Nguyen Cao Ky, the former commander of the air force who was premier for two years before he and President Nguyen Van Thieu were elected last fall.

"Many military men, political figures and representatives of groups and religions have been contacted for support for the formation of the army," Vietnam Press said.

"Moreover, several retired general officers, of high reputation and with best military records, are actively participating in the formation of the March to the North Army's command staff."

Fulbright: "If Congress wishes to alter that commitment in Southeast Asia or elsewhere, the suggestion has been made here how it can be done."

Fulbright, who has rejected previous suggestions for repeal resolutions, did not respond to Rusk's statement.

But a separate move in the House to demand a greater congressional role in determining war policy was reported gaining strength.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said one-fourth of the 435 House members have agreed to back a resolution calling for an immediate study of U.S. policy in Asia and added:

"It is now clear to me that there is a strong, substantial and bipartisan feeling in the House that no decision to commit large numbers of troops to Vietnam, nor any other fundamental decision on war policy, should be made until and unless there is serious consultation with and action by the Congress."

Later, Rep. Edward P. Bowland, D-Mass., told his colleagues that 16 House members are sponsoring a resolution saying U.S. troop levels in Vietnam should not be hiked "without the explicit consent of the Congress."

Asked how Rusk's testimony had affected his opposition to war policy, Fulbright replied: "It was confirmed—my worst fears."

Arkansas Is Digging Out of the Snow

Residents in Northwest Arkansas began digging themselves out today from the 14-inch snowfall that brought the area almost to a standstill Tuesday.

Many schools in the area were still closed today, but the U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock offered some relief in its forecasts.

Rising temperatures are forecast for the state through Saturday with a chance of showers developing by Friday night and Saturday.

Traffic was able to move in the Springdale-Fayetteville area this morning. Road graders have been scraping snow and ice from the streets since Tuesday afternoon.

One lane of U. S. 71 was reported open this morning, but U. S. 62 east of Rogers remained blocked by snow drifts.

The State Police said that at 7 a.m. today all the highways were covered with snow and ice and that the conditions were "still pretty bad."

Classes resumed this morning at the University of Arkansas after a day's suspension.

The weight of the snow continued to take its toll by caving in roofs and awnings on stores in Springdale.

The roof of the Anderson Box Co. at Springdale caved in this morning, setting off the sprinkler system and fire alarm.

The intense low pressure storm center that brought the heavy snowfall to Northwest Arkansas is now centered over extreme East Pennsylvania and is moving rapidly northeastward, bringing heavy snow to the Eastern Great Lakes Region and most of New England.

Skies will remain clear to partly cloudy over Arkansas through Thursday. It will be cold again tonight with frost and freezing temperatures likely over most of the state.

their criticism of the President in an election year are likely to become bolder in speaking out against him. If McCarthy, little known in New Hampshire, could come close to beating the President, they will feel that there is a strong wind against Johnson's ship on its present course.

The squads of youngsters who joined in ringing doorbells, passing out leaflets and doing all of the hard chores of campaigning for McCarthy indicated that there is a reservoir of support available for an antiwar candidate.

Candidates who share McCarthy's dissent are likely to try to organize their own youth teams of volunteers, particularly if their opponents support Johnson's policies.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., who joined Gov. John W. King in sponsoring the write-in for Johnson, insisted that the New Hampshire outcome was not a repudiation of the President's policies.

But McIntyre told a news conference Tuesday night that the result added up to a "frustrated vote over Vietnam."

"The people of the State of New Hampshire are saying 'we don't understand, we wonder why we are not doing any better,'" he said.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who shares McCarthy's critical views of war policies, found in the outcome "A strong feeling about the war in Vietnam."

In Fresno, Calif., Gov. Ronald Reagan said the Democratic vote indicates widespread dissatisfaction with Johnson.

Nixon called the landslide vote he rolled up "the first referendum on Lyndon Johnson" and a "smashing victory" for his own campaign for the GOP presidential nomination.

Although Nixon said the results would force New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to "get in or get out" of the nomination contest, Rockefeller said he did not regard the primary as significant because Nixon had no effective opponent on the ballot after Michigan Gov. George Romney withdrew.

Hawkins Says All But $500 Accounted for

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH
Associated Press Writer
MORRILLTON, Ark. (AP) — Attorneys for Conway County Sheriff Marlin Hawkins said they would present witnesses today who would account for all but about $500 of the $63,299 in county funds that Hawkins is accused of misappropriating between 1963 and 1966.

Former Assistant Atty. Gen. Jack S. Lessenberry of Little Rock and former Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon of Morrilton said they hoped Hawkins himself could take the stand late this afternoon.

The sheriff is the defendant in a taxpayer suit being tried in Chancery Court here.

His accountant, John Barnard of Russellville, testified Tuesday that Hawkins had already produced evidence covering all but $5,900 of the total.

Barnard, a junior partner and resident manager of the Fort Smith accounting firm of Douglas, Walker and Co., said the sheriff's records, partial documentation and eyewitnesses to cash transactions had accounted for a total of $57,188.

He said errors by Harry Freese of Little Rock, the accountant for the 13 taxpayers, accounted for another $212.

vision on war policy with which President Johnson must deal at this critical point in the conflict. It had the aspects of a preview of coming events when finally the President's decision is made known. Whether Johnson can moderate the dissension by consultation with congressional leaders and careful balancing of their views in arriving at his own position is still to be determined.

The dominant impression in Washington now is that the President will try to find some way to provide additional fighting men to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in South Vietnam, without immediately authorizing the full 206,000 which is reportedly Westmoreland's maximum request.

Officials say they don't know when the President will reach his decision, but some expect it within the next two or three weeks.

Rusk's testimony suggests that when the President has made his decision he wants to disclose it to an accompaniment of the strongest and most persuasive reasons he can find for his actions.

For as the Foreign Relations Committee sessions have now made clear, whatever Johnson decides will be subject to immediate attack at the Capitol — criticized either as a move to ward escalating the war or as a failure to provide all the troops necessary for victory or both.

It is believed the administration is meanwhile considering possible new peace moves—a major demand of Senate critics who told Rusk Tuesday they did not think enough had been done to try to get North Vietnam to the negotiating table.

Rusk's testimony sketched in broad outline the dilemma in which Johnson now finds himself, and the reasons for it.

Until the end of January, the administration had believed the fight against Communist forces in South Vietnam and the parallel pacification program to expand security in the countryside were making steady progress.

But the Communist Tet offensive showed such power in enemy's ability to attack cities and overrun villages that the whole concept of a slow-but-sure victory strategy has been wrecked.

One important aspect of the current situation, Rusk said, is how effectively the allies—principally the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces—can "bounce back."

It thus appears that one reason for Johnson's unwillingness to make a quick decision on Westmoreland's desire for more troops has been that he wants to see what can be accomplished with the 500,000 American fighting men and the 600,000 South Vietnamese already available.

IRS Usurps Power of Congress With Rulings on Bonds

Flagrantly bypassing the Congress on basic tax policy the Internal Revenue Service has ruled that industrial development bonds shall lose their tax-exempt status after March 15—this Friday—while this very question is still being debated in the House Ways & Means Committee.

It smells of political conspiracy—as though the Johnson administration fearful of trusting tax action to the Congress aims to achieve direct results through a bureau edict.

You read the comments of Hempstead State Representative Talbot Field, Jr., in yesterday's Star, and of Robert M. Millwee, director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, in this morning's newspapers.

They are looking for alternate routes in the event the IRS ruling is permitted to stand and Arkansas' Amendment 49 authorizing issuance of industrial bonds is knocked out.

But the first business before the people is to challenge the authority of the IRS to act alone on any basic tax question, particularly at a time when the specific question is under debate in the House Ways & Means Committee. All Americans bawl over that historic phrase "Taxation without representation"—and this is one to make you bawl but good: We elect congressmen to pass on tax laws—only to see the taxing authority usurped by a non-elective bureau!

Arkansas Amendment 49 of 1958 and Act 9 of 1960 are the legal backbone of bond issues which have brought 227 new industrial plants with an investment of more than half a billion dollars to our state. Industrial development bonds had explicit exemption from federal tax until the split between the Johnson administration and Congress over tax policy—and then the IRS on March 8 issued a directive stating that the tax exemption would be revoked as of March 15.

In its drum-beating campaign against "Industrials" in the press and on the air the Johnson administration has claimed that the tax break offered industry isn't so important nowadays because most of the states offer the same bond inducement that Arkansas does. But the fact is, regardless what the Washington says, Arkansas has gotten 227 new plants with its industrial bond program.

And how can you cut off such a program without doing untold injustice between the various counties of the same state? Little River county was permitted to float tax-exempt bonds for a multi-million-dollar paper mill near Ashdown.

If the IRS' "taxation without representation" decision is permitted to stand then Hempstead county, with the prospect of an even bigger paper mill being projected for McNab around 1970, would be denied the same bond authority.

This might well determine whether or not we get the U.S. Plywood-Champion mill at all. I suggest you get in high gear and write an outraged letter to: Hon. Wilbur Mills, Chairman, Ways & Means Committee, House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515

Gold Rush Grows to a Stampede

By GRANVILLE WATTS
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Europe's gold rush became a virtual stampede today and bullion dealers curtailed trading sharply in the London market.

The curtailment was the first such action taken since the formation of the international gold pool in 1960.

London dealers made clear there was no suspension of sales. They raised the price of gold five cents to $35.20 an ounce and refused to take small orders. No big orders were refused.

The action came as the Italian treasury described as "without foundation" a report from Zurich that the United States was shouldering Italy's share of bullion in the international pool.

Forty tons of gold were snapped up in the London market at the opening price fixing, more than double Tuesday's level at the same period. This could mean a day's total of close to 100 tons and a return to last December's crisis level.

Heavy demand also hit the Zurich market. One source said Swiss banks expect an embargo on gold sales to be announced soon by the United States, which with the other six nations of the gold pool is pledged to sell gold at $35 an ounce.

The source said an embargo could mean creation of a free gold market with prices of $50 and more an ounce. Banks accepted new orders only if the buyer agreed to pay the free market price in case the gold price goes up between now and delivery, which now takes at least two months.

Vote Indicates LBJ Can Expect Additional Storm of Criticism

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — President Johnson can expect the storm of criticism over his Vietnam policies to grow in national fury as a result of the outcome of the New Hampshire primary.

LBJ Barely Wins in New Hampshire

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire Democrats returned a startling split decision today, giving President Johnson a narrow, empty victory in the nation's opening presidential primary—while awarding rebellious Eugene J. McCarthy 42 per cent of the ballots and apparently 20 nominating votes at the party's national convention.

Richard M. Nixon won the overwhelming Republican vote he sought to help wipe out the memory of past defeats and propel his quest for the GOP presidential nomination.

But the drama was in the Democratic story. It was a story of political trouble for Johnson, and a leadoff success for McCarthy, whose campaign on a platform protesting Vietnam policy once was scorned as inconsequential by Democratic professionals.

Minnesota's McCarthy far surpassed his forecasts—and those of his opponents. Johnson's name was not on the ballot, but the state Democratic organization waged a tough write-in campaign. Its product: a minority win for the President, who received 49 per cent of the vote.

The near-final count had Johnson leading McCarthy by less than 4,000 votes. The President's promoters had forecast a 3-1 victory—and even that prediction was toned down from earlier 10-1 talk.

The contest for delegates appeared to be reversing the verdict of the presidential preference poll. Actually, the poll, popularly called a "beauty contest," is blinding on one.

In the separate contest for Democratic delegates, candidates pledged to vote for McCarthy's nomination were leading for 20 of the 24 national convention seats at issue, while contenders favoring Johnson led for 4.

McCarthy's performance in that phase of the primary was come of the New Hampshire primary. While the President's supporters may dismiss as insignificant the verdict by about 50,000 Democrats in a state that is 2-1 Republican, the inescapable fact is that when he and his policies were tested at the polls for the first time in this presidential year Johnson could barely manage to get 50 per cent of the vote.

Added to this is the fact that a heavy turnout of Republicans, reaching nearly 100,000, gave 79 per cent of their votes to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who concentrated his campaign attacks on Johnson.

When politicians add all of this up, they are likely to call it a psychological setback for the President.

The performance of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., in racking up 40 per cent of the Democratic vote is certain to give the war critics a shot in the arm that will spur them to greater efforts to dynamite Johnson's policies.

McCarthy began his low-keyed campaign with the announced intention of stimulating debate within the party and forcing the President to change his war course. Not until recent days has he become starry-eyed with the belief that perhaps he might prevent Johnson's renomination.

McCarthy's showing under dramatic attack on him as an appeaser whose victory would give comfort to Hanoi has demonstrated that he and other candidates can stand up under this kind of political lightning.

Immunization Day for Measles Scheduled March 21 in County

On Thursday, March 21 the Hope Junior Auxiliary in co-operation with the Hempstead County Medical Society, the county and state health department is sponsoring a mass measles clinic.

The purpose of Measles Day will be to give parents of Hempstead county the opportunity to have their children immunized against Rubella (red measles). The shots will be given free to all children over one year of age and who have not yet entered the first grade of school. Shots will cost $1.15 for all school age children.

The clinics will be conducted by trained technicians of the State Health Department under the supervision of a State Health Department physician. The clinics will be staffed by registered nurses, Junior Auxiliary ladies, and PTA volunteers from the various school districts. The vaccine will be administered with jet injector immunization guns, a relatively new procedure which does not involve a needle.

Since the immunizations will be administered in the schools, all school age children will be provided with a letter of explanation to be taken to their parents. If a parent wishes for his child to have the shot, the letter must be returned to school signed by the parent in the space indicating that approval is given for the shot. The letter must be accompanied by the money, at which time the child will be pre-registered and the money collected. Preschool children will be registered on the day of the clinic at the respective sites. All preschool children must be accompanied by a parent or responsible guardian.

Clinics will be held at the following schedule:

Rusk Refuses Congress Role in War

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has refused to promise the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that Congress will be given a role in future Vietnam war policy decisions.

Winding up 10½ hours of grueling testimony before the committee, Rusk said only: "If more troops are needed, we will, as we have done in the past, consult with appropriate members of Congress."

That fell far short of demands by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and a majority of the other committee members that Congress be brought into any future escalation discussions at an early stage.

"He never did answer us on whether there would be consultations before a decision is made," Fulbright told newsmen after the two-day Rusk appearance ended Tuesday.

Despite the secretary's refusal to meet his demands, Fulbright showed little inclination for accepting a challenge posed by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio—and echoed by Rusk—to test the Arkansas' views in Congress.

Lausche suggested Fulbright could sponsor legislation aimed at repealing the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, passed overwhelmingly by Congress and often cited by the administration as an expression of congressional backing for its Vietnam policies.

Rusk quickly followed up Lausche's proposal by telling

Griffin Is Winner in Mississippi

By JAMES SAGGUS
Associated Press Writer
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Rep.-elect Charles Griffin, landslide winner over the first serious Negro political challenger this century, today prepared to take his seat in Congress where he served as an aide for 18 years.

Griffin scored a 2 to 1 victory over Negro leader Charles Evers in Tuesday's special election to fill the House seat vacated when John Bell Williams resigned in January to become governor.

Evers said he will seek the post again and informed sources reported several white political figures will oppose Griffin when he enters the Democratic primary June 4 for a full term beginning next January.

The presence of Evers in the runoff and the absence of racist overtones marked the campaign, which ended with Evers visiting Griffin's headquarters to offer his personal congratulations Tuesday night.

The two men, shook hands, and Evers signed the guest book.

As the Griffin supporters standing nearby applauded, Evers said, "We're all Mississippians. If I'd won I'd expect the same thing."

Griffin's supporters crowded around Evers, shook hands and pounded him on the back in a display of high spirits.

Griffin, 41, called the record vote an endorsement of his political philosophy. He describes himself as a conservative.

Evers, 45, state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told a television audience later more whites turned out to vote against him than he expected, but that the election proved a new day had arrived in the state.

Unofficial returns from 296 of the district's 308 precincts gave Griffin 85,039 votes to 42,684 for Evers, with the 127,723 total topping both the first round figure and runoff predictions.

The first round brought out 114,871, divided among Evers and six white opponents. Evers got 37,713 and Griffin 28,806.

300 Enemy Killed in Four Battles

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces killed more than 300 enemy troops in four battles in the northeast corner of South Vietnam Tuesday, but enemy pressure on the besieged U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh slackened.

North Vietnamese gunners who have poured an average of 350 shells per day into the Khe Sanh base, in the northwest corner of the country, fired only 35 shells Tuesday.

U.S. commanders declined to speculate on the reason for the sudden drop-off in the bombardment.

There had been some expectation that the North Vietnamese surrounding Khe Sanh would make a major move today to mark the 14th anniversary of the beginning of the siege of Dien Bien Phu, another isolated base whose loss was the last straw for the French. The U.S. Command had no word on action today at Khe Sanh, but there was no indication from newsmen there that there was any unusual activity.

About 25 miles east of Khe Sanh, South Vietnamese infantrymen and armored cavalrymen reported 194 enemy soldiers killed in a two-day battle that ended Tuesday night five miles north of the U.S. Marine headquarters at Dong Ha. Their losses were 39 killed, 91 wounded and 12 missing.

A government spokesman said most of the South Vietnamese casualties were suffered in a heavy artillery barrage that triggered the battle, the 10th major fight by the same units in the past two weeks.

Three miles to the east, U.S. Marines battled for eight hours with an estimated 600 North Vietnamese and counted the bodies of 35 enemy soldiers afterwards. Ten Americans were killed and 23 wounded.

The 3rd Marine Division has its headquarters at Dong Ha, 11 miles south of the demilitarized zone. Tuesday's other heavy fighting was below Quang Tri City capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province, eight miles south of Dong Ha. Fresh enemy units have been reported crossing the DMZ into the area recently.

In a battle which continued into the night, soldiers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported killing 59 enemy soldiers and seizing one suspect southwest of Quang Tri. U.S. casualties were withheld while the clash went on.

Other units of the division fought southeast of Quang Tri and reported killing 16 North Vietnamese, with one American killed and 20 wounded.

About 80 miles farther south, government infantrymen overran a Viet Cong command post near Quang Ngai City and reported killing 86 guerrillas.

A government spokesman said U.S. Army helicopter gunships sank 21 sampans carrying Viet Cong supplies near Ho An, north of Quang Ngai.

The Americans are relying a great deal on their planes to keep any major assault on Khe Sanh from getting started. B52 bombers raided enemy positions near the base four times Tuesday night and today. They also struck suspected enemy strongpoints in the A Shau Valley, near the Laotian border across the country from Da Nang. Other B52 raids came in Binh Thuan Province, 89 miles east of Saigon and on the central coast southwest of Tuy Hoa.

On the political front, a Buddhist spokesman reported that Thich Tri Quang, leader of the militant political Buddhist faction, has been released after three weeks of detention at national police headquarters.
